QUEERING SEXY B(L)ACK

Queer Youth & Pedagogies of Sexual Agency with Edward Brackenbrough

Thursday, February 9th, 5:30 PM, Maxwell Auditorium

Despite growing concerns in recent years over the plight of queer students in American schools, efforts to make schools more responsive to the needs of queer youth continue to fall short of queer-inclusive sexual health education. For Black queer youth in particular, the limited access to sex education in public schools persists as the stakes surrounding their sexual health have intensified. This presentation will draw upon findings from multiple scholarly projects to explore how Black queer youth engage in pedagogical acts that nurture their sexual agency, and it will consider how P-12 educators and other select stakeholders can support Black queer youth and other queerly identified young people in ways that are culturally responsive and socially just.

Developing and Defending Mixed Identity:

LESSONS FROM THE CARIBBEAN DIASPORA ON COLORBLINDNESS,
INTERPERSONAL INTERACTIONS, AND SOCIAL MEDIA

Through interviews with mixed and multiracial individuals aged 18-30 with roots in Anglophone Caribbean countries reporting large multiracial populations, this research describes the effect of Caribbean racial rhetoric on ethnic identity development and how this cohesive identity is deployed via interpersonal interactions and social media to affect racial discourse.

JEANNETTE K. WATSON DISTINGUISHED VISITING PROFESSOR EVENT

PLAYWRIGHT WORKSHOPS WITH CHERRIE MORAGA: A 4-PART PROJECT

Toward a Theater of Consciencia

This 4-session playwriting workshop will introduce students to the basic elements of writing for staged performance (including solo work). Exercises will encourage creative experimentation and critical (political) consciousness drawn from personal and embodied experience. The workshop will emphasize the physicalization of character study, dialogue and monologue work drawn from oral traditions, and scene development through improvisation.

Advanced registration is required for the four-part workshop series with playwright director Cherríe Moraga. Participants should plan to attend all four sessions:

- Wednesday, Feb. 22 • Friday, Feb. 24
- Wednesday, March 1 • Friday, March 3
6-8 p.m., 319 Sims Hall

For information about registration, contact sademock@syr.edu ASAP. A short application must be submitted by Friday, February 10th.

The Jeannette K. Watson Distinguished Visiting Professorship in the Humanities is a preminent lectureship established by the Watson family to support the visits of prominent humanities scholars, writers, and artists.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Celebrated transgender trailblazer Kate Bornstein has—with humor and spunk—ushered us into a world of limitless possibility through a daring re-envisionment of the gender system as we know it. Kate lives on the edge of paradox: she is not a man, and not a woman. She looks beyond the binary to see gender as both a conscious practice, and a playful journey.
